Final Project Individual Role

What I did:

- Helped brainstorm the general idea of the project
- Worked on the Snake Game (it got scrapped)
- Found and figured out how to work the PathFinding Application
- Gathered the data from the PathFinding Application
- Completed the report on my own

Details:

      I began working on this final project with a group partner. We initially planned to work on a more ambitious project - details of our original ideas are in our project proposal. I initially started working on this project by preparing various versions of a snake game to implement in the analysis, unfortunately, the snake games did not end up being used, since the load of work, based on what we had planned to do with them, would not have been bearable by a single person. From what I know, Param, my group partner, suddenly had to attend to a family matter of sorts and, sadly, was not able to participate in the development of the final project.
